INTRODUCTION

A. Introduction

Arbor Woods Health and Rehab LLC ("Plan Sponsor") has hereby established the Direct Reimbursement Dental Plan for the Employees of Arbor Woods Health and Rehab LLC.. ("Plan") to provide dental benefits to its eligible Employees and their eligible Dependents. The Plan is a self-funded group dental plan, which is a type of welfare benefit plan subject to the provisions of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended ("ERISA").

The Covered Person shall be responsible for sharing in the costs through contributions toward Plan coverage, Coinsurance, Copayments, and Deductibles.

The Employer is responsible for at least a portion of the cost of an Employee's dental care coverage. If an Employee elects to enroll Dependent(s) in the Plan, he or she may be responsible for a portion of that cost. The Employer shall pay costs in excess of the Employee's obligations. Contributions from the Employer and the Employees, if any, are used to provide benefits under the Plan.

The provisions of the Plan Document do not modify the terms of any insurance policy or ancillary coverage.

The Employer fully intends to maintain the Plan indefinitely. However, it reserves the right to terminate, suspend, discontinue, or amend, in whole or in part, any or all of the provisions of the Plan (including any related documents and underlying policies) at any time, and for any reason, upon prior written notice to all Employees.

B. The Purpose of the Plan

The purpose of the Plan is to provide certain dental & limited vision benefits for eligible Employees of the participating Employer(s) and the eligible Dependents of such Employees.

C. The Purpose of the Plan Document

The Plan Sponsor is required under ERISA to provide to Employees a Plan Document or Summary Plan Description.

This Plan Document has been adopted and is being provided as the written description of the Plan and as a Summary Plan Description. This Plan Document replaces any and all statements regarding dental care coverage contained in any Plan Document or Summary Plan Description previously provided to Employees. The Plan Document is not a contract of employment between the Employer and the Employee, and does not give the Employee the right to be retained in the service of the Employer.

The Plan Document includes provisions that may result in an Employee being deemed ineligible for or being disqualified from coverage or that may result in the denial, forfeiture, loss, offset, recovery, reduction, or suspension of benefits that a Covered Person might otherwise reasonably expect the Plan to provide. Covered Persons should review this Plan Document carefully so that they understand how its provisions affect payment of benefits under the Plan.

The Plan Document will automatically be modified to comply with any federally-mandated provisions. The Plan shall notify Employees in writing of any material modification to the Plan in accordance with federal law. To the extent applicable, the Plan will provide coverage and benefits in accordance with the requirements of all applicable laws, including USERRA, COBRA, HIPAA, FMLA and PPACA. Employees are required to keep the Plan Administrator informed of any changes in address with respect to themselves and any covered Dependents. Employees are encouraged to maintain a copy of any notices sent to the Employee by the Plan Administrator or to the Plan Administrator by the Employee.

Additional Information

Summary Plan Document

The Employer has issued this document to each Eligible Employee who is a Covered Person under this Plan. This document summarizes the benefits to which Covered Persons are entitled, to whom benefits are payable, and the provisions of this Plan principally affecting employees and their dependents.

Administration of Plan

The Plan is administered by the Administrator. The Administrator may delegate its authority to any person, including any officer or employee of the Employer, any committee or third party administrator. In the absence of any other delegation, the authority to administer the Plan shall be exercised by the senior officer of the Employer responsible for human resources or personnel, or persons acting under his/her authority. Fiscal records are maintained for the Plan Year ending the last day of August each year. The Administrator has the sole authority to interpret the Plan, to adopt rules and procedures for the administration of the Plan, and to resolve all issues regarding the Plan, including eligibility for participation and payment of benefits. All determinations made by the Administrator are final and binding on all parties.

Acceptance of Legal Notice

The Plan is a legal entity. Legal notices may be filed with, and legal process served upon Arbor Springs Health and Rehab. LTD.

Plan Amendment or Termination

The Plan may be amended or terminated by the Employer at any time. Any amendment or termination may be approved by either the Board of Directors or, unless the Board of Directors otherwise determines, the Chief Executive Officer of the Employer. In addition, any revision to the benefits provided under the Plan, or to the procedures for administering the Plan or applying for benefits, adopted by the Administrator and communicated to the Covered Persons shall be deemed an amendment to the Plan. In the event of Plan termination, the Employer will have no obligation under the Plan beyond paying the difference between the claims incurred (even though later filed) and expenses of the Plan due up to the date of termination. Such claims and expenses shall be paid as normal expenses of the Plan.

Plan is Not a Contract

The Plan shall not be deemed to constitute a contract between the Employer and any employee or to be a consideration for, or an inducement or condition of, the employment of any employee.

Appealing Denial of a Claim

If your claim is denied in whole or in part, you will receive written notification from the Administrator within 30 days of the date you filed the claim. The 30-day period may be extended by up to an additional 15 days if necessary and you will be notified of any such extension. A claim work sheet will be provided showing the calculation of the total amount payable, charges not payable, the reason, and the steps you may take to have the claim reviewed. If additional information is needed for payment of a claim, the Administrator will notify you within the initial 30-day period, and you will have 45 days to submit the additional information. If your claim is denied, you may request a review by filing a written application with the Administrator. The denial of your claim will then be reviewed by an officer or committee appointed by the Employer for this purpose who will not be the same person who originally denied your claim (or a subordinate of such person). The person reviewing the claim will conduct a full review, without deferring to the initial denial, and if the denial is based upon a medical judgment, will consult with an independent health care professional. You may submit your opinion of the issues and your comments in writing. Requests for review must be filed within 180 days after you receive notice of denial. A decision will be made promptly within 60 days and will be delivered to you in writing setting forth specific reasons for the decision and specific references to the pertinent plan provisions upon which the decision is based. The decision will be final, except as provided in the following sentence. If you still disagree with the denial of your claim following the review, you have the right to file a lawsuit under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act. However, by participating in the plan you agree not to sue unless you have filed your claim in a timely manner and appealed the initial denial of your claim within 180 days as described above. In addition, you agree not to sue more than 180 days after your appeal is denied. For more information on your right to sue for benefits (including the situation in which the losing party may be required to pay the other side's attorney fees), see "Rights of Employees (ERISA)" below.

Rights of Employees (ERISA)

As a person covered under this Plan, you are entitled to certain rights and protection under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA). ERISA provides that all people covered by the Plan are entitled to:

Receive Information About Your Plan and Benefits

1. Examine, without charge, at the Administrator's office and at other specified locations, such as worksites all Plan documents including insurance contracts and a copy of the latest annual report (Form 5500 series)(if required) filed by the Plan with the U.S. Department of Labor.
2. Obtain, upon written request to the Administrator, copies of documents governing the Plan, including insurance contracts, and copies of the latest annual report (Form 5500 series)(if required) and updated summary plan description. The Administrator may make a reasonable charge for the copies.
3. Receive a summary of the Plan's annual financial report. The Administrator is required by law to furnish each participant with a copy of this summary annual report.

Continue Plan Coverage

Continue Plan coverage for employee, spouse and Eligible Dependents if there is a loss of coverage as a result of a qualifying event. You or your Eligible Dependents may have to pay for such coverage. Review this summary plan description and the documents governing the Plan on the rules governing your COBRA continuation coverage rights.

Prudent Actions by Plan Fiduciaries

In addition to creating rights for Plan participants, ERISA imposed duties upon the people who are responsible for the operation of the employee benefit plan. The people who operate your Plan, called “fiduciaries” of the Plan, have a duty to do so prudently and in the interest of you and other Plan Participants and beneficiaries. No one, including your employer or any other person, may fire you or otherwise discriminate against you in any way to prevent you from obtaining a benefit or exercising your rights under ERISA.

Enforce Your Rights

If your claim for a benefit is denied or ignored, in whole or in part, you have the right to know why this was done, to obtain copies of documents relating to the decision without charge, and to appeal any denial, all within certain time schedules.

Under ERISA, there are steps you can take to enforce the above rights. For instance, if you request a copy of Plan documents or the latest annual report from the Plan and do not receive them within 30 days, you may file suit in Federal court. In such a case, the court may require the Administrator to provide the materials and pay you up to $110 a day until you receive the materials, unless the materials were not sent because of reasons beyond the control of the Administrator. If you have a claim for benefits, which is denied or ignored, in whole or in part, you may file suit in a state or Federal court (provided you have complied with the Plan’s claim and appeal procedures). If it should happen that Plan fiduciaries misuse the Plan’s money, or if you are discriminated against for asserting your rights, you may seek assistance from the U.S. Department of Labor, or you may file suit in a Federal court. The court will decide who should pay court costs and legal fees. If you are successful, the court may order the person you have sued to pay these costs and fees. If you lose, the court may order you to pay these costs and fees, for example, if it finds your claim is frivolous.

Assistance with Your Questions

If you have any questions, about the Plan, you should contact the Administrator. If you have any questions about this statement or about your rights under ERISA, you should contact the nearest office of the Employee Benefits Security Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, listed in your telephone directory or the Division of Technical Assistance and Inquiries, Employee Benefits Security Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, 200 Constitution Avenue N.W., Washington, D.C. 20210.

Continuation of Coverage under COBRA

The federal law requirements of the Consolidated Omnibus Reconciliation Act of 1985 (commonly known as "COBRA"), as amended from time to time, apply to the Plan if the employer falls under the guidelines for COBRA. The following is intended to inform you and your Eligible Dependent(s) in summary fashion of your rights and obligations under COBRA. You and your spouse (if any) should take time to read this summary.

If you or your Eligible Dependent(s) lose coverage under the Plan because of any of the qualifying events described below, you and your Eligible Dependent(s) may elect to temporarily continue Plan coverage according to COBRA rules. You may also elect COBRA continuation coverage for an eligible child who is born to you, adopted by you, or placed for adoption with you while your COBRA continuation coverage (or your right to elect COBRA continuation coverage) is effective, provided that you notify the Administrator within 30 days after the date of birth or adoption.

Qualifying Events

A "qualifying event" is any of the following:

- For you, and your eligible covered spouse and other Eligible Dependent(s), termination of our employment with the Employer (other than for gross misconduct) or reduction of your hours worked, so that you are no longer an Eligible Employee.
- For your eligible covered spouse and other Eligible Dependent(s):
 - Your death; or
 - Your divorce or legal separation from your spouse.
- For your eligible dependent child, the child ceasing to qualify as an Eligible Dependent under the Plan, for example because of age, marital status, or ceasing to be a full-time student.

Important Notice Requirements

You, your covered spouse, and other Eligible Dependent(s) must notify the Administrator of a divorce or legal separation or when an Eligible Dependent child ceases to qualify as an Eligible Dependent under the Plan. You must provide this notice within 60 days from whichever date is later, the date of the event or the date on which Plan coverage would be lost because of the event.

If this notice is not provided in a timely manner, the right to continuation coverage based on COBRA rules will be lost.

The Employer is required to notify the Administrator of your death, your termination of employment or the reduction in your hours worked.

The Administrator will, within 14 days of being notified of a qualifying event, advise you and your Eligible Dependent(s) of the right to elect continuation of coverage under the Plan. You or your Eligible Dependent(s) must elect continuation coverage under the Plan within 60 days or the later of the following:

- The date you or your Eligible Dependent(s) would lose Plan coverage because of the qualifying event; or
- The date you or your Eligible Dependent(s) are advised by the Administrator of the right to continue Plan coverage based on COBRA rules.

Notice to your eligible covered spouse of the right to elect continuation coverage under the Plan will be deemed notice to any Eligible Dependent children residing with your spouse. If you or your Eligible Dependent(s) do not elect continuation of coverage within this election period, then the right to COBRA continuation coverage will be lost.

Payment of Continuation Coverage

You and your Eligible Dependent(s) will be required to pay for the cost of continuation coverage in an amount equal to the cost of Plan coverage. You will be advised of coverage cost when you become eligible. The contributions must be paid by a check made payable to the Employer.

Contribution amounts and benefits for continuation coverage are subject to change. You will be notified of any changes in contribution amounts or benefits available under the Plan.

If you or your Eligible Dependent(s) elects to continuation coverage after the qualifying event, then you or your Eligible Dependent(s) will have 45 days from the date of the election to make the required initial contribution. That initial contribution must cover the entire period from the date of the qualifying event to the date of your payment. There is no grace period for the initial contribution. Each other contribution payment is due within 30 days after the first day of each month of continuation coverage.

If any contribution payment for continuation coverage is postmarked after the date that payment is due, continuation coverage under the Plan will terminate on the first day of the month payment was due and will not be reinstated.

Duration of Continuation Coverage

If you or your Eligible Dependents elect to continue Plan coverage, the maximum continuation period following a qualifying event involving termination of employment or reduced work hour is 18 months.

The 18-month period may be extended to 29 months (an additional 11 months) if the Social Security Administration ("SSA") determines that you or any of your Eligible Dependent(s) were disabled at any time during the first 60 days of continuation coverage. Non disabled family members of the disabled individual who are entitled to COBRA continuation coverage are also entitled to the disability extension.

To be eligible for the disability extension, the disabled person must remain disabled and must notify the Administrator.

- Within 60 days after receiving the disability determination from the SSA, and
- Before the original 18-month period of continuation coverage ends.

A qualified beneficiary who is entitled to a disability extension may be required to pay up to 150% of the cost of his or her COBRA continuation coverage. If the increased cost is required, it will apply to each qualified beneficiary who is entitled to the disability extension. You or your Eligible Dependent(s) must inform the Administrator within 30 days of the date of any final determination by the SSA that the disabled person is no longer disabled.

If a second qualifying event occurs, within the 18 or 29 month period (as applicable), the period to continue coverage under COBRA may be extended for up to 36 months from the first qualifying event.

For all other qualifying events, the maximum period to continue Plan coverage is 36 months.

Termination of Continuation Coverage

Other events will cause your right to continue Plan coverage to end sooner. The right to continue Plan coverage will end before the maximum period on the earliest of the following:

- The date the Employer ceases to provide any dental plan coverage for employees;
- The date you or your Eligible Dependent(s) fail to make the required contribution when due;
- The date after you or your Eligible Dependent(s) first become, after your COBRA election:
 - Covered under another employer's dental plan, or
 - Entitled to Medicare.

As described above, if you or any of your Eligible Dependents are disabled, you (and you Eligible Dependents) may be eligible to extend the continuation coverage period from 18 to 29 months. However, if the Social Security Administration determines that the person who was disabled is no longer disabled, the extended period of continuation coverage will end on the first day of the first month that is at least 30 days after the Social Security Administration makes its final determination.

If you or your Eligible Dependent(s) become covered by another employer's dental plan and have a pre-existing condition that is not covered by that plan, then the right to continue Plan coverage (at least for that pre-existing condition) will not be terminated due to that other coverage.

Notice of Address Change

Please keep the Administrator informed of any address changes or changes in personal circumstances (such as a change in your marital status or if a dependent child no longer meets the eligibility requirements for a dependent child) so that we can provide you and your Eligible Dependent(s) if any, with the necessary information concerning your rights to continuation coverage.

General Information About Continuation Coverage

COBRA continuation coverage is provided subject to eligibility under the law. The Administrator reserves the right to terminate continuation coverage retroactively if you or your dependent(s) are determined to be ineligible for continuation coverage.

This Notice is only a summary under the laws of your rights and the rights of your Eligible Dependent(s) to continuation coverage. The Employer intends to provide continuation coverage only to the extent required by law and will administer continuation coverage according to those requirements. If you or your Eligible Dependent(s) have any specific questions, please contact the Administrator.
